An important job in animal care is making sure your animals are given new, fun opportunities and experiences. Enrichment is anything that we can provide for our animals that helps to bring out natural behaviors such as searching for food, encountering new smells, and feeling new textures.

Daisy loves receiving enrichment items! Can you help design a new enrichment item for our resident fennec fox, Daisy? Here are some things she particularly enjoys:

- Cherries
- Canned Pumpkin
- Fish
- Crinkle toys
- Teaser toys
- Stuffed animals

Use the space below or a separate sheet to design an enrichment item just for her. How can you blend her favorite things together in a way that will make her think or practice her natural skills?
Fennec foxes don’t just use their big ears for listening -- they also use them to cool off in the hot Sahara desert. Can you think of another animal that uses its large ears to cool off?

Do the Math

Fennec foxes are omnivores, meaning they eat both meat and plant matter.

Daisy receives 8.5 grams of broccoli per day. If we are ordering her broccoli for a week (7 days), how many grams of broccoli should we order?

Use the space below or a separate piece of paper.
Oh no! Daisy knocked over our animal training board. Training is very important with our ambassador animals and is helpful for vet checks! Can you unscramble these words to reveal what training commands that Daisy should practice today?

Answer Key

Word Scramble: Spin, Station, Crate, Target

1. Sipn
2. Satiotn
3. Cmoe
4. Catre
5. Trgeat

Learn More

Did you know that you can help take care of Daisy without even leaving your home? Join our Adopt-a-Wolf program! Learn more at endangeredwolfcenter.org/adopt/daisy

Loved meeting Daisy?

Meet more of our animal ambassadors including Lucky the maned wolf, Clay the western hognose snake, Sawyer our Virginia opossum, and our three-toed box turtles Minya, Phoebe, and Pickle!